

Dear students,

We would like to make sure that you are ready to resume studies when this adventure ends, b'ezras H' very soon and without major upheaval.

I understand that many of you will be busy helping your mothers. If you can also complete the work I assign, at least in part, that will help us pick up where we left off.

I am sending a tentative schedule for you to follow. All deadlines are flexible, especially if you've been working on the report before you get this information

If you have any questions about the assignments, please feel free to call me or email me.

Mrs. Zapinsky 410-358-6417 (call between the hours of 10am – 8pm),
3507 Labyrinth Rd, zappo613@verizon.net

If you need help printing out any of the papers, please call the school office.

Monday 3/16	I am uploading the answer key for the review sheet. Please use today to fill in your copy and review for the open notes test (30 minutes)
Tuesday 3/17	Review for the open notes test (30 minutes)
Wednesday 3/18	Take the test open notes Take as much time as you'd like. If you need to go over onto Thursday, then do so. Send me the completed test by email or snail mail (USPS), or drop it off between my doors
Thursday 3/19	I have a few items about the brain that I want to share with you. I will upload a PowerPoint, my notes to read along with it, and a short audio clip for you to listen to as a demonstration – for this demonstration, if you have it available, you might want to suck on a few bittersweet chocolate chips or a piece of dark chocolate bar. (everything is better with chocolate... 😊!) Please do a little work on your report.
Friday 3/20	Please work on your report

A story:

Once upon a time, when my children were young, Baltimore had a big thunderstorm and a blackout. I lit candles, so we could see. My children, young at the time, were scared, as children are when things are not what they are used to. My husband quickly asked if we had any marshmallows, and we roasted marshmallows over the candle flame. (Only do this with adult supervision, very carefully, so the candle doesn't tip over to start a fire, and the marshmallows didn't start flaming, which would make things much worse!) When the blackout ended, one of my daughters turned to us and asked, "Can we have another blackout, soon?"

While things may be difficult, my family has found that if you think of trials and tribulations as an adventure, with all the challenges that go along with adventures, you'll get through them more easily. Use your imagination, and think of yourselves as marooned on a desert island. What will you do to keep yourself amused? How can you best get along with your siblings? Daven, of course. Things are different, but with HaShem's help, we'll be ok.

Monday 3/23	Please work on your report
Tuesday 3/24	Please work on your report
Wednesday 3/25	Please work on your report Please send me your rough draft to check
Thursday 3/26	PowerPoint and notes You will not be held responsible for this material on a test, but it is background knowledge for what comes next.
Friday 3/27	Hebrew Friday
